

The next generation of boarding card...

Overview

As part of the IATA "Simplifying the Business" initiative, airlines and airports have been able to advance the facilities of Internet Check-in and, importantly, the ability for passengers to print their own boarding cards at home or in the office. These advances allow passengers to bypass check-in at the airport and go directly to security search and onwards to the departure gate.

InterCode Solutions has launched Mobi-Ticket which delivers the airline boarding pass directly to the passenger's mobile phone.

Mobi-Ticket follows the IATA standards, and provides the barcoded boarding pass as a MMS message on the phone. The passenger's phone is simply scanned at security search and the gate using the existing barcode scanners and systems.

Features and Benefits

Mobi-Ticket can deliver IATA formatted barcoded boarding passes to any MMS enabled mobile phone, PDA or Blackberry. Mobi-Ticket optimises the barcode layout for every device to make the best use of the screen size to maximise barcode readability.

Mobi-Tickets can be read by the existing barcode scanners and systems already deployed around the airport. Additional passenger information is displayed as text for inspection by airline staff on board the aircraft.

Deploying Mobi-Tickets allows your passengers to check-in on-line at locations with no access to a printer, for example, passengers can check-in at hotels, conference centres, internet cafés, wireless hotspots and even kiosks at the airport.

Mobi-Tickets support text based check-in. Passengers simply text their booking reference to a SMS shortcode to check-in. The Mobi-Ticket is then delivered directly to passenger's mobile phone.

Mobi-Ticket™ allows airlines to improve CRM by capturing the passenger's mobile details, allowing flight updates to be sent directly to passengers. For low cost carriers, Mobi-Tickets can be delivered as a premium service to increase passenger revenues.
